CITY TRUSTEES

Annexation by Election of 30th Officially Consummated—New Member Takes His Seat—Trustee Watson Elected President of Board—Agreement to Buy L. C. Brand's Lighting System

All present. The lobby was well filled with spectators, a few of whom occupied seats thoughtfully furnished by the trustees for the accommodation of the people, while the others lined up as usual against the wall. After the reading of the minutes the board proceeded to canvass the vote cast at the late municipal election, confirming the figures previously published. The newly elected officials were then sworn in by the city clerk who had previously been sworn in by a notary. Mr. Tower taking his place. The board then proceeded to elect a chairman. Mr. Coker placed Mr. T. W. Watson in nomination. There being no further nominations, Mr. Watson was unanimously elected. In a few properly chosen words Mr. Watson thanked the trustees for the honor. A motion then prevailed thanking the retiring chairman, Mr. John Robert White, Jr., for his official services as president of the board during the past year. The regular order was here suspended and bids for an oil pipe franchise were ordered opened. The bid of F. E. Fitzpatrick offering $100, being the only one received, was accepted and the franchise granted as requested.

The report of the manager of the electric light works in regard to bids opened last week for supplies, was read, recommending acceptance of bids as follows:

Ornamental light posts, Llewellyn Iron Works; glass globes, Mayberg Co.; lamps, general electric Co.

For extension of light plant awards were made to a dozen different concerns.

The recommendation of the manager in regard to these bids was adopted.

Reports of city officials followed. The city clerk made his monthly report for March.

A lady living on Vine street appeared before the board to ask that the ordinance intended to prevent children from skating on sidewalk be not enforced, stating that this means of locomotion was of great assistance to children in that section on their way to school. The members expressed themselves as favoring the lax enforcement of the ordinance in resident sections.

There was a request in regard to the laying of sidewalks at Columbus and Lomita, the sidewalk to be placed two feet from the property line. The motion was denied, then on motion of Mr. Coker was reconsidered and the petition granted. A request for permit to do street work by private contract on a portion of Pioneer Drive, from C. J. Deal, was received and granted.

A communication was read from the secretary of state acknowledging receipt of return and result of annexation election of March 30th. A long list of approved demands was read.

Mr. White brought up the matter of the friction existing between the marshal and night policeman, stating that the latter refused to take orders from the former and expressing the opinion that the matter should be taken up and settled at once. This idea prevailed and a motion was adopted adjourning for a half hour to meet as committee of the whole. The two officers were called before the board in executive session.

After being out an hour the members of the board came in and reassembled in regular session.

The bond of E. D. Goode to cover the granting of an electric railway franchise was approved. The manager of the lighting plant reported deeds and agreements for transfer of the property of the Glendale Light and Power Co. in lately annexed territory to the city of Glendale all ready for signatures. The price to be paid is $6847 for that portion of the system in the newly annexed territory and the sum of $6096 for that part of the system outside the city. Tropicco excepted. The president of the board was authorized to sign for the city. Trustee White requested leave of absence for four or five weeks, which was granted. Trustee White offered a resolution appointing Mr. H. M. Miller, marshal, which was adopted. On recommendation of Mr. Miller, Mr. Evans was appointed deputy marshal. A motion was adopted that when adjournment is made it be until Wednesday evening next, at which time the chairman is expected to name the committees of the board and other pressing business will be attended to.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING

Mt. Verdugo Project Boosted.

The Chamber of Commerce met last Friday evening at Odd Fellows Hall with a good audience in attendance. The routine business being disposed of, the floor was given to Col. Lewis Ginger to present to the members of the chamber and citizens generally his plan for a scenic railway from the terminus of the Pacific Electric at Casa Verdugo to the top of Mt. Verdugo. In explaining the working of the system, his own invention, the Colonel was assisted by a model which made plain the principle upon which the road is to be operated. A large drawing of the mountain, showing the contour of its different elevations, also aided the understanding. The elevation is about 3,000 in height, and the Colonel is an enthusiast as to the panorama spread out before the beholder who stands upon its summit, stating in his address that in his travels in Europe and among the high peaks of the Rockies in Colorado he had never seen the view excelled. By Colonel Ginger's plan there are no power stations along the line. The ordinary car can be taken to the top of the mountain with the power received from the trolley, a series of stations, four or five in number, at the different levels, being equipped with an elevator upon which the car runs by its own power, the elevator moving with the car up to the next level. The Colonel calculates that a car will carry fifty people, and that five thousand people can be transported up and down during the day. The proximity of the attraction to Los Angeles and the comparatively low cost of the trip promise to make it the most popular resort in this part of the state. The project is presented to the people of Glendale in the hope that they will join in the formation of a company and take the sufficient stock in the enterprise to build the road to the top of the first incline as a starter, that being sufficient to demonstrate its feasibility, and making the completion of the rest of it easy. It is estimated that the amount of money required for this will not be more than $15,000, and a committee will be appointed by President Emery of the chamber to see what can be done in the way of giving the enterprise, which everyone concedes will be of inestimable value to Glendale, a substantial boost.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

Tuesday, April 23, will be Reel Procity Day at the club. A large attendance is expected, as invitations have been sent to the various clubs of Los Angeles and surrounding towns. A social hour will be enjoyed from eleven to twelve, when lunch will be served to club members and out-of-town guests. Each member of the club is requested to bring a box lunch for two. In this way the guests will be provided for. The afternoon program will open with a violin solo, "Melodi" (Tschakowsky), by Julius Kranz. Miss Grace M. James will sing three songs, "Ah, Love but a Day" (Beach), "Ah, Love" (Charles Carlson), and "Irish Folk Song" (Arthur Foot), with violin obligato by Julius Kranz. Miss Thekla Mertens will read "Rose of the Wood" (Anna Branch), with violin and piano accompaniment by Julius Kranz and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones.

DEATH OF MRS. BREWSTER.

Mrs. Jane Lavinia Brewster, wife of Geo. T. Brewster of Woods Hotel, died Thursday of last week and was buried Saturday afternoon following from the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company on Brand boulevard. Mrs. Brewster had not been well for a year past but was considered seriously ill for only a few days before her death. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. P. Humphrey, interment at Forest Lawn.

WEST GLENDALE M. E. CHURCH.

Sunday School 10:00 a. m. Preaching 11:00 a. m. Junior Class 2:00 p. m. Epworth League 6:30 p. m. Praise 7:30 p. m. A. E. MORRISON, D. D., Pastor.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH.

Corner Fourth and Isabel Streets. Rev. G. R. Messias, priest in charge. Services, Sundays, 7:30 a. m. Holy Communion; 11 a. m. morning prayer and sermon, except on the first Sunday of the month; 7:30 p. m. evening prayer and sermon; Sunday school, 9:30 a. m.; Wednesday evening service, 7:45 p. m. You are cordially invited to these services.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

The regular services of this church will be held next Sunday except the evening service. The Sunday school at 9:30; preaching service at 11:00. True Blue Junior meeting at 2:30, and B. Y. P. U. at 6:30. Everybody is welcome. There will be no services during the week. We shall join in the Union Gospel services at the tent, corner Fourth and Louise, which promise to be very interesting and helpful.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Sunday school 9:45; morning worship 11:00; preaching by the pastor; Junior and Intermediate Endeavor 3 p. m.; C. E. meeting 6:30. No evening services during union meetings. This church unites with other churches in special meetings at the big tent on Fourth street, under leadership of Handschield and Farrar.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Services are held in the K. of P. hall, Brand boulevard near Third street. Rev. E. H. Willisford, pastor, will speak at 11 o'clock, subject, "Greater Disasters than that of the Titanic." The Sunday school will meet at 11:00 o'clock; on Saturday the woman's auxiliary will hold a food sale at the store of J. N. McGillis, Brand boulevard.

This church congratulates the Baptist people on the progress they are making toward the completion of their new church building. The laying of the corner stone was an interesting event. Also the church rejoices with the Presbyterians on the helpful, interesting and successful dedicatory services. May large blessings come to these churches in the sincere wish of the pastor and people of the Congregational church.

Rev. E. H. Willisford, pastor of the Glendale Congregational church, has crossed the Atlantic ocean seven times, and on several of these trips he has seen icebergs, the vessels on which he was a passenger passing the ice monsters at close range. Sunday morning he will tell some things about these grand yet dreaded mountains of ice.

BAPTIST CHURCH CORNER STONE LAID.

Last Saturday afternoon the corner stone of the new Baptist church on Third street was laid with impressive ceremonies. A number of the pastors of other denominations were present, assisting in the ceremony, and there was a large audience of interested spectators. The following program was rendered: Invocation, Rev. Mr. Willisford; Scripture, Rev. Mr. Utter; anthem, the church choir; prayer, Rev. W. E. Edmonds; solo, Mr. A. R. Taylor; history of the church, Mrs. M. E. Overton. A number of articles were placed in the corner stone, among them the church directory and copies of the local papers.

UNION EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

The initial service was held in the large tent Wednesday evening. The attendance was good. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Presbyterian church, had charge of the meeting. Prof. Farrar took charge of the choir. Indications are that the meetings will be very successful.

ALFA LYNDA'S CELEBRATE.

The girls of the Alfa Lynda gathered Saturday at the home of Miss George Duffet at 1008 Chestnut street. The afternoon was a birthday shower given in honor of Miss Berenice Williams, guest of the day. After a pleasant visit over needlework and music the guests, one and all, were invited to inspect a curious tree growing in the yard, and a very odd tree it was, having blossomed into myriads of birthday gifts wrapped in tissue paper and tied with ribbon. Tea was then served, the old-blue walls of the dining room making an effective background for brass bowls filled with masses of yellow roses. A low mound of yellow roses formed a beautiful centerpiece on the table and hand-decorated place cards attached to long stemmed yellow rosebuds furthered the decorative scheme. Members of the club are Mrs. Frank Hillard, Miss Nona Thomas, Miss Emily Ellis, Miss Pearl Goode, Miss Marjorie Duncan, Miss Harriet Bayrd, Miss Maude East, Miss Alpha Clement, Miss Ruth Brown and the hostess, Miss George Duffet. Guests of the afternoon were Miss Leeta McCoy and Miss Berenice Williams.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH DEDICATED

A Remarkable Financial Achievement—A Series of Interesting Services

Last week certainly belonged to the Presbyterians in Glendale. Two weeks ago that congregation was in debt to the extent of something like six thousand dollars. Today the debt has not only been provided for, but the pledges are sufficient to make a surplus. The campaign began a week ago, when a committee started out with the avowed intention of raising five thousand dollars in one day, and they only felt a few hundred dollars short of accomplishment.

The church was dedicated last Sunday, and during the various services of the day over eleven hundred dollars was raised. The church, with furnishings, cost about fifteen hundred dollars. It is a handsome and commodious structure, and will comfortably seat about eight hundred people. Much credit for the erection of the building belongs to Mr. Elias Ayers, who acted as overseer of the work of the building, and certainly the minister, Rev. Walter E. Edmonds, who recently took up the work in this field, has put a great amount of intelligently directed energy into the work, and is naturally gratified at the liberal help given by his congregation and others.

Sunday's Services.

A correspondent sends us the following account of the services of the day and of Monday evening:

At the morning service an earnest, helpful address was given by John Willis Baer, president of Occidental College. A beautiful solo was sung by Mr. George Stivers, of Los Angeles.

In the afternoon the other churches of the valley united with the Presbyterians, and their pastors were seated on the platform. Rev. S. Lawrence Ward, former pastor of the church, presided. The dedication sermon was preached by Rev. W. B. Gantz, pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian church of Los Angeles. A fine, scholarly sermon, delivered in a forceful manner, which received the close attention of the large congregation.

An anthem prepared by Miss Judson Harris, a member of the church, for the dedication service, was sung by the chorus choir, as was also a dedication hymn composed by Mr. J. C. Sherer for the original church building, twenty-seven years ago.

The church building was given to God, to be used for His service, at this afternoon gathering, at which time the pastor led the people in a solemn responsive reading of dedication.

In the evening a very large audience, overflowing into the Sabbath school room, listened intently to Rev. R. A. Torrey, who preached the Gospel message in his plain and sincere manner.

Unlike the usual custom of dedication Sabbath, the offering of the evening service was given to Dr. Torrey to use in the work of the Bible Institute. Monday evening the services connected with the installation of the new pastor, Rev. Walter E. Edmonds, recently called from Peoria, Ill., to become pastor of this church, were held. Rev. Hatch of Tropicco was moderator of the evening. The sermon was preached by Rev. Moses Breeze of New York City.

The charge to the pastor was given by Rev. W. S. Young, and the charge to the people by Rev. A. B. Pritchard of the Central Presbyterian church of Los Angeles. The new pastor has the united support of his people, and the church is growing in its different branches of work.

DEDICATION HYMN.

(Written for and used at the dedication of the old church.)

We raise our voices, Lord, to Thee,
And ask, that through Thy Grace,
Thine house which we have built,
May be
Thy Spirit's dwelling place,
That here the wounded heart may find
Some solace for its pain,
And leaving doubts and cares behind,
May its lost peace regain.

In this, the temple which our hands
Have raised, Oh Lord, to Thee,
May we attend to Thy commands,
Thy Glory may we see!
Here on Thy altar we would place
The offerings which Thy Love,
Accepting with Thy saving Grace
Shall register above!

Above the everlasting hills
Thy Kingdom stands supreme,
Within the heart Thy impulse thrills
With its divinely beam,
There lives no pain which Thy great Love
Cannot at once dispel,
The soul which looks for help above
Rejoices, and is well.

May this, Thy temple, firmly stand
Throughout unnumbered days,
Sustain it Lord, with Thy strong hand,
And may our songs of praise
Ring through the vaulted sky above,
Triumphing in Thy grace,
Till crowned by Thy eternal love
We stand before Thy face!
J. C. Sherer, June 25, 1885.

GLENDALÉ, CALIF. APRIL 19, 1912

As nearly as the law will permit it,
it is now "Mayor" Watson.

The attorney general has rendered a decision to the effect that school trustees whose term expires June 1st have the right to appoint teachers for the ensuing year, high school trustees included.

A reporter of the NEWS noticed at the Pacific Electric depot one day
this week awaiting shipment by express to points in California, Arizona and Texas, twelve baskets of eggs for hatching, all from the yards of one of our local breeders of fancy poultry.

To Evangeline—
"Slugged them over the ropes" is a classical quotation which you will find fully explained in the forthcoming educational work entitled, "First Helps for First Voters," by T. R.
Oysterbay, Long Island, N. Y.

An American who was executed in Mexico by orders of Orozco, was engaged in working a machine gun and dealing in wholesale murder in a quarrel that was none of his own. There need be no sympathy wasted on these "Soldiers of Fortune," the sympathy is needed by the people of the United States who may find themselves plunged into war by this class of our undesirable citizens.

At the teachers conference in Los Angeles last week, Mr. W. W. Mackay of Chicago, chairman of the playgrounds committee submitted a report.
It recommends constant agitation in favor of playgrounds, employment of teachers fitted to act as leaders in games, inclusion of a course in games
in all normal schools, legislation establishing the minimum area on which a school is to be built, and the creation of a state playground and public recreation committee to study the movement in all its phases.

The greatest disaster of the kind in the history of the sea is the sinking of the Titanic carrying to a watery grave fifteen hundred human beings.
Everything that science could suggest for safety and comfort was to be found in the structure and equipment of this modern floating palace of the sea,
which exceeded by two hundred feet
the length of the Great Eastern. But neither the creations of science nor all the devices procurable by wealth measured in millions, were sufficient to withstand an attack by one of the primal forces of nature. The terrible catastrophe has monopolized for a few days the attention of the world. No doubt when the sad details are received the tragic story will be to some extent glorified by incidents of individual heroism which will remind us of the divine element in our poor human nature.

THE COUNTY CHARTER.

The Artesia News sees in the proposed county charter, a scheme for city and county consolidation, noting the fact that there was in the convention that selected the committee of fifteen no representative of the city of Long Beach, one of the principal cities of the county and where opposition to consolidation is very strong.
The editor of that paper believes that the new charter will mean a process of "benevolent assimilation," and a placing of all political power in the hands of the supervisors who will appoint all local officers, school trustees included. It is difficult to criticize an instrument that is not yet in existence, but there are indications pointing to the coming charter as the culmination of a well arranged scheme which will get for Los Angeles just what she wants in the way of additional territory without giving such territory any voice in the matter that can possibly be effective.

The publisher of this paper wishes to state as plainly and emphatically as possible that in no single instance in the years we have conducted it has any article been refused admission to its columns because the ideas advanced therein were contrary to the opinions or ideas entertained by the editor. In political campaigns the columns of the NEWS have been wide open for those who properly expressed their convictions as to tickets and candidates, whatever they may have been. During the recent municipal contest matter was offered to us twice on press day, when to make room for it would have seriously inconvenienced

us, but for no other reason did it fall to appear. This paper, as we have frequently stated, keeps a public forum, in which the views of citizens, properly expressed, will always be given space. There are certain rules, however, which need to be observed;
for instance, if it would give any of our admirers pleasure to call the editor a horse thief in print, our columns are at his disposal; but if the same charge is made against someone else, it will not be published unless accompanied by affidavits.

GREATER GLENDALÉ.

Now that official acknowledgment has been made by the secretary of state of the result of the recent annexation election by which Verdugo Canon and a portion of Casa Verdugo became a part of Glendale, that territory is now subject to all the existing ordinances and regulations of the city.
If any one is foolish enough to put up sufficient money to go into court and protest against the validity of the election, there are plenty of lawyers who would be willing to start the trouble. But it is scarcely probable that any action of the kind will be taken.
Glendale almost doubled its area by annexing the canon territory, but added
only about 500 people to its population. By the acquisition of this territory, the burden of government resting on the shoulders of the city trustees has been made much heavier,
but they will no doubt rise to the occasion and act wisely. The principal argument in favor of the annexation
being the necessity of the city's having jurisdiction over the sources of our water supply, steps will have to be taken at once looking to the solution of this vital problem.

OUR GOVERNOR AND HIS IDEAS.

Governor Johnson alleges that "the defeat of Roosevelt in the May primaries" would mean the "return of the state legislature to the enemy." Mr.
Johnson takes himself and his ideas of government too seriously if he believes for a moment that any considerable number of the opponents of his political ideas, are "enemies of good government." It may be difficult for him to understand that not all the civic virtue in the state of California is monopolized by himself and his fellow partisans, but such is the case. There are a great many people in California who while appreciating
the fact that the Southern Pacific Railroad company has been deprived of its political power, are conscious also of the fact that this good work was accomplished not through the working out of new laws, but by an application of the old ones before Mr. Johnson was made governor and before the job lot of 23 amendments was made to the constitution of the state. The people of the state always had it in their power to overthrow the domination of the railroads, but they slept upon their rights, only a small proportion of them doing their political duty. On more than one occasion indeed in our political history long before "progressive reform" became a term for successful conjuring, the people did wake up and assert their rights successfully. They did this in a conspicuous instance when legislators resisted successfully the strongest influences of the railroad lobby in its attempt to elect Dan Burns to the United States senate, sending there to represent the state that sterling citizen, Thomas Bard, the most independent representative that California ever had in the upper house of Congress, the present incumbent by no means excepted.

Theodore Roosevelt did a good work when he broke down precedents and showed the people the possibilities
which they possessed under the laws as they existed, and Mr. Johnson and other imitators in California also did well in arousing the people of California to a sense of their political duty,
and their action resulted in much good. But the trouble with our California political leaders now in the saddle is that they do not realize that they have served their purpose and it is time to give the people a rest.

A mustard plaster has its place in tificate before such ceremony could be performed.

The bugaboo held up before us by the so-called "National League for Medical Freedom," charging the National Health Bureau with trying to monopolize the practice in favor of regular medicine, and blaming them because they are trying to interest the nation in placing around its official national safeguards against disease, is the smallest of all excuses for their standing in the way of the general welfare and the public good. This step at once brands them as either dishonest or unwarrantably ignorant concerning the facts governing such a law, and apparently trying to throw down the bars and leave us entirely unprotected so far as legislation is concerned regarding health.

The warning shot out by this self-styled "Medical Freedom Bureau" is one that any citizen can at once see is without foundation, for the nation
has not and never had any control over any particular school of practice, while it has ever demanded that any medical man must show education and knowledge concerning his profession,
just the same as it does in securing a competent man in any department. It is not the province of the general government to supervise any medical practice or protect any medical school.
It only strives to protect all endeavor in any scientific study that has for its aim the best interests of society. But the regulation of medical practice has been and is the province of the state.
Let us in a sane and sensible manner ask a practical question of our condition and what has given to us the protection and immunity from disease and plagues that we enjoy today. Has it not come through regular medicine and the sacrifice honest-thinking minds have given to the cause of disease and epidemics? Lay aside all personal prejudice and look the established facts squarely in the face, and you have but one answer, that it is through the work done through the medical students and by scientific men for the relief of humanity and their protection from devastating disease.

Have we any more the "black plague" that nearly depopulated London seventy-five years ago? No.

What stopped it? Finding the cause and removing it.

Have we any more epidemics of cholera here in the United States such as we had fifty years ago, that came as far north as Chicago, and closed Rush Medical College, the medical students being disbanded and sent home to avoid contagion? No. But why not? Sanitary conditions were substituted for filth and unsanitary. Supervision by proper medical advice has prevented a repetition of such an epidemic anywhere in the United States, for if it has appeared it has at once been stamped out by cleanliness and proper conditions, favoring pure air and good water.

What has become of pernicious malaria or yellow fever in Havana? Have you heard of any since the United States soldiers went into Havana
and ordered a general cleaning up?
Before this it made its annual visits,
and yellow fever was as much expected as any fall crop, but now not known only in isolated cases.

How about our Panama republic?
What has become of the "deadly zone" that so depopulated the workmen when the French were digging
the canal that it was abandoned? Now it is called its healthy as any southern climate. Have any of the wonderful Medical League for Medical Freedom and fighting monopoly in medicine
been in there working for humanity and opposed to the "regular monopoly" demonstrating their fervor? I have not heard of their being farther from home than the state legislature of Washington, and then not fighting disease, but medical men. Roosevelt, when he was offered the position of general in the army going to operate in Cuba, replied: "I am not tested; a colonel is high enough for me until I know how I am going to stand fire."
Had not our medical enthusiasts better save their ardor until they do something for humanity?

All that we have noted has been the work of regular medicine; no one else,
no other school, no other party, no,
not even Christian Science, but hard-headed, strong, blunt, plain medical study and investigation. We need not name the men who have offered themselves up to test scientific truth in malarial districts and in testing the te-tanic and diphtheritic toxins. This you all know, and are you not, as sensible, truth-loving persons, willing to let the facts speak for truth and sober-ness, giving credit to whom credit is due?

TAFT INSISTS ON AID TO FARMERS

Says Department of Agriculture Work Must Go On.

LABORS FOR CONSERVATION.

Far-reaching Legislation Administered
by Scientists of Rank Brings Good Results to Tillers of Soil—Food and Drugs Act Upheld to the Letter.

In his inaugural address President Taft called attention to the deficit then existing in the revenues and the consequent necessity for rigid economy in expenditures. However, the president singled out the department of agriculture as an exception. He said, to quote his exact words, "In the department of agriculture the use of scientific experiments on a large scale, and the spread of information derived from them for the improvement of general agriculture must go on." This view the president has steadily maintained, and repeatedly has urged appropriations for the work of the department.

In his comprehensive message on conservation President Taft said, "The feature that transcends all others, including woods, waters, minerals, is the soil of the country," and that all means at the government's disposal should be used to conserve the soils, adding, "a work of the utmost importance to inform and instruct the public on this chief branch of the conservation of our resources is being carried on successfully in the department of agriculture."

Reports made recently to Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture by the heads of his bureaus justify this solicitude on the part of the president for the department. In calling for these reports the secretary asked that they be brief and that they mention notable achievements of the last five years only, inasmuch as that period is really the period of fruition in the department, the period during which, owing to the broad foundations previously laid by the training and grouping of many corps of scientific men, by securing far-reaching legislation, by gathering together masses of statistics and other information, by providing scientific and other equipment, it has been possible to produce most marvelous results for the common good of the people.

Taft For Conservation.

In his conservation message President Taft emphasized the importance of the maintenance of the forests and urged their scientific treatment "so that they shall be made to yield a large return in timber without really reducing the supply," and in other messages he pointed out the necessity of reforestation. "In accordance with these views much available work has been done in protecting the national forests and by researches in the laboratory of the department at Madison, Wis., and in the past five years the work of reforestation burned over areas has proceeded at the rate of 15,000 to 30,000 acres a year. The department takes justifiable pride in its forest work, considering the administration of 100,000,000 acres of land protected and managed for the public benefit a great achievement.

Since Jan. 1, 1907, when the food and drugs act went into effect, more has been done to provide a good, clean food supply than in all the preceding life of the nation. A wonderful change has also been effected in the character of the drugs on sale. The department has a trained force of inspectors and chemists doing excellent work in all parts of the country in behalf of pure foods and pure drugs. This salutary law, however, needs amendment, as the supreme court held in May, 1911, that its provisions, to quote President Taft's words in his vigorous message to congress a month later, "do not cover the knowingly false labeling of nostrums as to curative effect." The president added: "An evil which menaces the general health of the people strikes at the life of the nation. In my opinion the sale of dangerously adulterated drugs . . . constitutes such an evil and warrants me in calling the matter to the attention of the congress."

Work of Soil Mapping.

Of importance to the farmer has been the work carried on in the past five years of soil mapping and classification, so that now the area included is 407,000 square miles, or nearly 41,000,000 acres. The value of this work is incalculable.

Disseminating the valuable information acquired by the department has proved a wonderful work. Practically 200,000,000 publications have been distributed since Secretary Wilson assumed control of the department, and more than half ($68,598,100) of that number have been distributed within the past five years.

Other work accomplished by the department includes a comprehensive system of weather warnings and forecasts, the meat inspection service in which 2,500 experts are employed, who see that every pound of meat sent interstate is fit for human food, protection of live stock, the checking of rodent pests, the destruction of noxious insects, the conservation of water supplies, the building and care of public roads, and the policy for better farmhouses, so that every dollar expended in the prosecution of this work in its numerous phases has brought back a hundred fold to the people.

"It takes and takes for distinction; and, if possible, it will have it. It is unreasonable, then, to expect that some men, possessed of the loftiest genius, coupled with ambition sufficient to push it to the utmost stretch, will at sometime spring up among us? And when such a one does, it will require the people to be united with each other, attached to the government and laws, and generally intelligent, to successfully frustrate his design."

"Perfection will be his paramount object, and although he would as willingly accept it by doing good to harm, yet nothing left in the way of building up he would sit down boldly in the task of pulling down, there then is a probable case, highly dangerous."

—From the Omaha Daily Bee, March 26, 1912.

TAFT MAKES GOOD LABOR PLEDGES

Administration's Record Squares
With Its Promises.

MANY NEW LAWS ENACTED.

Postal Savings Banks, Workmen's Compensation and Employers' Liability Laws Passed—Eight Hour Law Upheld—Labor Recognized on Commissions.

From the day three years ago when it placed its interests in the keeping of William Howard Taft to this hour labor has critically scanned his every act, and with discriminating mind it is judging him as one who, without claim or demonstration, has kept the faith.

On Sept. 9, 1908, Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, wrote a letter to Conrad Kohrs on the issues of the campaign and, addressing himself to the laboring men, said:

"If there is one body of men more than another whose support I feel I have a right to challenge on behalf of Secretary Taft it is the body of wage-workers of the country. A stancher friend, a fairer and truer representative they cannot find within the borders of the United States. He will do everything in his power for them except to do that which is wrong. He will do wrong for no man and therefore can be trusted by all men."

Mr. Taft Labor's Friend.

The workingmen of the country judged Mr. Taft in 1908 by a record of twenty-seven years as a statesman, administrator of national affairs and presidential adviser, and they helped to give him the magnificent majority which put him in the White House. During the three years he has been president his excellent record has been maintained so splendidly that the laboring men have been confirmed in the belief that they never had a better friend in the White House.

The establishment of the postal savings banks, which was recommended by President Taft, was one of the things that organized labor favored. The $16,000,000 now on deposit in these depositories represents the savings of the wage earners.

Taft's Personal Interest.

President Taft approved a law on May 30, 1908, to compensate workmen for injuries received while in the employ of the United States. After the passage of this act a number of workmen in the employ of the federal government were killed, and their families, not being familiar with the provisions of the law, failed to file affidavits within the specified time. The secretary of commerce and labor had no power to set aside the provision of the law and was therefore obliged to disapprove the claims.

The matter was taken up by the president, and he satisfied himself that justice was not being done to the families of the men who had been killed. He sent a special message to congress recommending that a general act be passed allowing all such claimants compensation if their claims were otherwise meritorious. This was an instance that proved the president to be broadminded and anxious to aid the workingmen in any way that he could.

An employers' liability act approved

June 11, 1906, was on January 8, 1908, held to be unconstitutional. Another of this sort was passed on April 22, 1908, which as yet has not been tested in the courts. Through the efforts of the president a commission was appointed to make an investigation of the subject of "employers' liability and workmen's compensation."

Labor Men Appointed.

The report of the commission, the evidence taken before it and the draft of the bill prepared as a result of the findings of said commission have been transmitted to congress, accompanied by a special message by President Taft, in which he recommends the passage of the proposed measure. In their deliberations the members of the commission had the benefit of frequent consultations with the president. It is believed the act will stand the test of constitutionality.

In order that the commission might have the benefit of the experience of a practical man President Taft appointed as one of its members L. C. Cease, the editor of the Railroad Trainmen's Journal, the official organ of the railroad trainmen. Mr. Cease has devoted the best years of his useful life to the cause of labor. The president also appointed experienced labor men as inspectors under the locomotive boiler inspection law. They were John F. Ensign of Colorado and Frank McManamy of Oregon for chief inspector and assistant chief inspector respectively.

The defects in the present eight hour law have not escaped the attention of President Taft. He has recommended to congress amendments which will make it really effective by "providing that public works shall be construed to include not only buildings and works upon public grounds, but also ships' armor and large guns when manufactured in private yards or factories."

Thirty Years' Service.

With regard to the high cost of living, which increases the burden of the wage earners, President Taft has already taken the initiative that will result in a worldwide inquiry into this problem. He has advocated the assembling of a world's congress to discuss its varied phases and to suggest remedies.

This unparalleled record of thirty years' service to the cause of all the people is deserving of consideration. No charge of broken faith or of broken promises can be made, no hint of departure from the plain path of duty can be laid at the door of William Howard Taft, who without ostentatious display has wisely and fearlessly administered the trust imposed upon him in 1908, when he was elected to his high office by the votes of laboring men.

CHAPTER XXIII CAPITULATION

WHEN Sheldon emerged from among the trees he found Joan waiting at the compound gate, and he could not fail to see that she was visibly gladdened at the sight of him.

"I can't tell you how glad I am to see you," was her greeting. "What's become of Tudor? That last flutter of the automatic wasn't nice to listen to. Was it you or Tudor?"

"So you know all about it," he answered coolly. "Well, it was Tudor, but he was doing it left handed. He's down with a hole in his shoulder." He looked at her keenly. "Disappointing, isn't it?" he drawled.

"How do you mean?"

"Why, that I didn't kill him."

"But I didn't want him killed just because he kissed me," she cried.

"Oh, he did kiss you," Sheldon retorted in evident surprise. "I thought you said he hurt your arm."

"One could call it a kiss, though it was only on the end of the nose," she laughed at the recollection. "But I paid him back for that myself. I boxed his face for him. And he did hurt my arm. It's black and blue. Look at it."

She pulled up the loose sleeve of her blouse, and he saw the bruised imprints of two fingers.

Just then a gang of blacks came out from among the trees, carrying the wounded man on a rough stretcher.

"Romantic, isn't it?" Sheldon sneered, following Joan's startled gaze. "And now I'll have to play surgeon and doctor him up. Funny, this twentieth century dueling. First you drill a hole in a man, and next you set about plugging the hole up."

They had stepped aside to let the stretcher pass, and Tudor, who had heard the remark, lifted himself up on the elbow of his sound arm and said, with a defiant grin:

"If you'd got one of mine you'd have had to plug with a dinner plate."

"Oh, you wretch!" Joan cried. "You've been cutting your bullets."

"It was according to agreement," Tudor answered. "Everything went. We could have used dynamite if we wanted to."

"He's right," Sheldon assured her as they swung in behind. "Any weapon was permissible. I lay in the grass where he couldn't see me and bush-whacked him in truly noble fashion. That's what comes of having women on the plantation. And now it's antiseptics and drainage tubes, I suppose. It's a nasty mess, and I'll have to read up on it before I tackle the job."

"I don't see that it's my fault," she began. "I couldn't help it because he kissed me. I never dreamed he would attempt it."

"We didn't fight for that reason. But there isn't time to explain. If you'll get dressings and bandages ready I'll look up gunshot wounds and see what's to be done."

"Is he bleeding seriously?" she asked.

"No; the bullet seems to have missed the important arteries. But that would have been a pickle."

"Then there's no need to bother about reading up," Joan said. "And I'm just dying to hear what it was all about. The Apostle is lying becalmed inside the point, and her boats are out towing. She'll be at anchor in five minutes, and Dr. Welshmere is sure to be on board. So all we've got to do is to make Tudor comfortable. We'd better put him in your room under the mosquito netting and send a boat off to tell Dr. Welshmere to bring his instruments."

An hour afterward Dr. Welshmere left the patient comfortable and attended to and went down to the beach to go on board, promising to come back to dinner. Joan and Sheldon, standing on the veranda, watched him depart.

"I'll never have it in for the missionaries again since seeing them here in the Solomons," she said, seating herself in a sterner chair.

She looked at Sheldon and began to laugh.

"That's right," he said. "It's the way I feel, playing the fool and trying to murder a guest."

"But you haven't told me what it was all about."

"You," he answered shortly.

"Me? But you just said it wasn't."

"Oh, it wasn't the kiss," he walked over to the railing and leaned against it, facing her. "But it was about you all the same, and I may as well tell you. You remember, I warned you long ago what would happen when you wanted to become a partner in Beranda. Well, all the beach is gossiping about it, and Tudor persisted in repeating the gossip to me. So you see it won't do for you to stay on here under present conditions. It would be better if you went away."

"But I don't want to go away," she objected with rueful countenance.

"A chaperon then?"

"No, nor a chaperon."

"But you surely don't expect me to go around shooting every slanderer in the Solomons that opens his mouth?" he demanded gloomily.

"No, nor that either," she answered with quick impulsiveness. "I'll tell you what we'll do. We'll get married and put a stop to it all—there!"

He looked at her to amazement and would have believed that she was making fun of him had it not been for the warm blood that suddenly suffused her cheeks.

"Do you mean that?" he asked unsteadily. "Why?"

"To put a stop to all the nasty gossip of the beach. That's a pretty good reason, isn't it?"

"No; it is worse than no reason at all. I don't care to marry you as a matter of expediency."

"You are the most ridiculous creature!" she broke in with a flash of her old time anger. "You talk love and marriage to me very much against my wish, and go mooning around over the plantation week after week because you can't have me, and look at me when you think I'm not noticing and when all the time I'm wondering when you had your last square meal because of the hungry look in your eyes, and make eyes at my revolve belt hanging on a nail, and fight due about me, and all the rest—and—now, when I say I'll marry you, you do yourself the honor of refusing me."

"You can't make me any more ridiculous than I feel," he answered, rubbing the lump on his forehead reflectively. "And if this is the accepted romantic program—a duel over a girl and the girl rushing into the arms of the winner—why, I shall not make a bigger ass of myself by going in for it."

"I thought you'd jump at it," she confessed, with a naïveté he could not but question, for he thought he saw a roguish gleam in her eyes.

"My conception of love must differ from yours, then," he said. "I should want a woman to marry me for love of me and not out of romantic admiration because I was lucky enough to drill a hole in a man's shoulder with smokeless powder. I tell you I am disgusted with this adventure tomfoolery and rot. I don't like it. Tudor is a sample of the adventure kind—picking a quarrel with me and behaving like a monkey, insisting on fighting with me—to the death," he said. "It was like a penny dreadful."

She was biting her lip, and, though her eyes were cool and level looking as ever, the telltale angry red was in her cheeks.

"Of course if you don't want to marry me—"

"But I do," he hastily interposed.

"Oh, you do?"

"But don't you see, little girl, I want you to love me," he hurried on; "otherwise it would be only half a marriage. I don't want you to marry me simply because by so doing a stop is put to the beach gossip, nor do I want you to marry me out of some foolish romantic notion. I shouldn't want you—that way."

"Oh, in that case," she said, with assumed deliberateness, and he could have sworn to the roguish gleam—"in that case, since you are willing to consider my offer, let me make a few remarks. In the first place you need not sneer at adventure when you are living it yourself, and you were certainly living it when I found you first, down with fever on a lonely plantation with a couple of hundred wild cannibals thirsting for your life. Then I came along—"

"And what with your arriving in a gale," he broke in, "fresh from the wreck of your schooner, landing on the beach in a whaleboat full of picturesque Tahitian sailors and marching into the bungalow with a Baden-Powell on your head, sea boots on your feet and a whacking big Colt's dangle on your hip—why, I am only too ready to admit that you were the quintessence of adventure."

"Very good," she cried exultantly. "It's mere simple arithmetic—the adding of your adventure and my adventure together—so that's settled, and you needn't jeer at adventure any more. Next I don't think there was anything romantic in Tudor's attempting to kiss me—nor anything like adventure in this absurd duel. But I do think now that it was romantic for you to fall in love with me. And finally, and it is adding romance to romance, I think—I think I do love you. Dave—oh, Dave!"

The last was a sighing dove cry as he caught her up in his arms and pressed her to him.

"But I don't love you because you played the fool today," she whispered on his shoulder. "White men shouldn't go around killing each other."

"Then why do you love me?" he questioned, enthralled after the manner of all lovers in the everlasting query that forever has remained unanswered.

"I don't know—just because I do, I guess. And that's all the satisfaction you gave me when we had that man talk. But I have been loving you for weeks—during all the time you have been so deliciously and unobtrusively jealous of Tudor."

"Yes, yes, go on," he urged breathlessly when she paused.

"I wondered when you'd break out, and because you didn't I loved you all the more. You were like dad and Von. You could hold yourself in check. You didn't make a fool of yourself."

"Not until today," he suggested.

"Yes, and I loved you for that too. It was about time. I began to think you were never going to bring up the subject again. And now that I have offered myself you haven't even accepted."

With both hands on her shoulders he held her at arm's length from him and looked long into her eyes, no longer cool, but seemingly pervaded with a golden dush. The lids drooped and yet bravely did not droop as she returned his gaze. Then he fondly and solemnly drew her to him.

"And how about that hearty and saddle of your own?" he asked a moment later.

"I well nigh won to them. The grass house is my heart's and the Martha my saddle, and—look at all the trees I've planted, to say nothing of the sweet corn. And it's all your fault anyway. I might never have loved you if you hadn't put the idea into my head."

"There's the Nongasella coming in around the point with her boats out," Sheldon remarked irrelevantly. "And the commissioner is on board. He's going down to San Cristobal to investigate that missionary killing. We're in luck, I must say."

"I don't see where the luck comes in," she said dolefully. "We ought to have this evening all to ourselves just to talk things over. I've a thousand questions to ask you."

"And it wouldn't have been a man talk either," she added.

"But my plan is better than that," he debated with himself a moment.

"You see, the commissioner is the one official in the islands who can give us a license. And—there's the luck of it—Dr. Welshmere is here to perform the ceremony. We'll get married this evening."

Joan recoiled from him in panic, tearing herself from his arms and going backward several steps. He could see that she was really frightened.

"I—I thought"—she stammered.

Then slowly the change came over her, and the blood flooded into her face in the same amazing bluish had seen once before that day. Her cool, level looking eyes were no longer level looking nor cool, but warmly drooping and just unable to meet his as she came toward him and nestled in the circle of his arms, saying softly, almost in a whisper:

"I am ready, Dave."

THE END.

CONSTABLE'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution issued out of the Justice Court of Pasadena Township, County of Los Angeles, State of California, Robert W. McDonald, Justice of the Peace, dated the 8th day of March, 1912, in a certain action wherein Meli. Forre as plaintiff, recovered Judgment against E. L. Cushman and Charlotte Cushman, his wife, as defendants, for the sum of One Hundred Thirty-one and 80/100 Dollars ($131.80), lawful money of the United States, besides costs and interest, etc., on the 23rd day of January, 1912, I have levied upon all the right, title, claim and interest of said defendants, E. L. Cushman and Charlotte Cushman, his wife, of, in and to the following described real estate situated in the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, and bounded and described as follows:

Lot Seven (7) in the Fairview Tract in the Rancho San Rafael, as per map recorded in Book 11, Page 15 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County. This property stands of record in the name of Charlotte Cushman.

Notice is hereby given that I will, on Monday, the 28th day of April, A. D. 1912, at 11 o'clock a. m. of that day, in front of the City Hall of Glendale, in the County of Los Angeles, at the front entrance, sell at public auction, for cash, the lawful money of the United States, all the right, title, claim and interest of said defendants, E. L. Cushman and Charlotte Cushman, his wife, of, in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise sufficient money to satisfy said judgment, with interest and costs, etc., to the highest and best bidder, and that said firming is dated at Pasadena, the 2nd day of April, A. D. 1912.

The Bank of Glendale

THE BEST BOOK

A man can have in his pocket, the Bible alone excepted, is a bank book. The plot is unique and the reader's interest increases at the rate of four per cent if a time deposit. A check book does not burn a hole in your pocket like the actual money. The jingle in your pocket is a temptation to spend, while you stop to think before you sign your name to a check.

Tell up, honestly, do you know of a single prosperous man who does not carry a bank account. Get in line. Try it a year and see if you don't enjoy it.

MANY HELPS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE.

The needs of the busy housewife at house-cleaning time are surely met in every way this spring by our hustling merchants, Cornwell & Kelly. Their windows have been showing almost undreamed-of ways for making the housework easier. This week they suggest a few of many uses in the home for enamels. The display has attracted unusual attention as the sample displayed is handsomely finished and a fine example of what it is possible to do with the goods they offer.

A SERIES OF ACCIDENTS

Will Shaver Has a Close Call—Auto-mobile and Other Mix-ups

Friday and Saturday of last week after every paper in town had gone to press, things began to happen that were worth chronicling. On the first day mentioning along about four o'clock in the afternoon, Will Shaver who has for some time been dashing through town in the red automobile of the Glendale Hardware Company, was turning the corner of Fifth and Louise streets at a good clip when a colic dog said to be addicted to the habit, rushed out and began to frisk around in front of the machine. He frisked once too often, for he got mixed up with the wheels with the result not only fatal to himself but embarrassing to Will, for the auto turned over with its chauffeur underneath. Fortunately the machine rested on the curb so that its driver was taken out pretty badly bruised but with no bones broken. His escape was almost miraculous, but he is zoning around again with only one finger tied up.

The same day an automobile driven by Miss Sara Thomas and occupied by her mother and herself, when crossing Brand boulevard was run into by another machine belonging to Mr. J. E. Andrews. Mrs. Thomas was thrown out and pretty badly bruised. She is gradually recovering. The streets were wet and the brake on Mr. Andrews' machine failed to hold.

Saturday afternoon Mr. Fred Deal's automobile standing on Brand boulevard opposite the telephone office was run into by a team of horses drawing an oil wagon, the animals becoming frightened by the breaking of a wheel and running up on the sidewalk. The auto was pretty badly wrecked.

Another accident occurred during the funeral of Mrs. Brewster the same day when a pair of horses belonging to the Central Stables became frightened and also ran onto the sidewalk in front of the undertaking rooms. One of the animals reared up and tumbled to the sidewalk, where he was held down and unharnessed without doing much damage.

P. E. O. LUNCHEON AT FERNHILL.

On Wednesday the lovely canyon home, "Fernhill," of Mrs. John Pirtle, was the scene of an all-day meeting and luncheon given by Chapter L of P. E. O. The morning was devoted to an interesting business session during the course of which the year book and work for the ensuing year was thoroughly discussed. A delicious course luncheon was served buffet style at noon. The afternoon session was occupied by literary work, book reviews being given by Mrs. A. L. Bryant, Mrs. Charles Byrkit and Mrs. G. E. Williams. Responses to roll call were favorite novels. The next meeting of Chapter L will be held Monday evening at the home of Miss Monica Smith on Maryland avenue and will be a musical evening.

"Miss Edna Vincent of Central avenue, enjoyed a visit last Sunday with relatives in Santa Ana."

Mrs. Green of Blanche avenue, departed this week for Virginia, where she will remain for several months.

Mrs. May Chandler, a property owner on Palmer avenue, who for the past several months has been residing in Santa Barbara, passed several days last week with Mrs. Fanny Marple, of Palmer avenue.

Work on the new tract of the Pacific Home Builders is being rushed and will soon be completed. The first home on the tract will be completed within a month, and others will soon follow.

The Philatelic class of the Presbyterian Sunday school was entertained at the home of Mrs. W. A. Hough on Central avenue, Monday evening. The guests of the evening included the Baraca class of the same Sunday school.

As a delegate from the Tropico Methodist Episcopal church, Robert Taylor attended the Sunday school convention held recently at Pomona. At the Sunday school services last Sunday Mr. Taylor gave a brief account of the convention.

Reorganization of the Tropico board of trustees took place Monday evening in the city hall. All members were present and now the board has settled down to do things, organizations or anything that comes in its way. Lee Bancroft was chosen president of the board.

A concert will be given in the Presbyterian church next Thursday evening. The affair promises to be one of the most enjoyable ever given by this society. An excellent program is being arranged and will be rendered at this time. Following the program a social hour will be held.

Tropico city will receive from the oil pipe franchise for the pipe line running through the city from north to south $1000 on the first of June, $250 on July 1, 1913, and $250 yearly thereafter, for a period of forty years. It is suggested that a public library, with reading and lecture rooms, also with ground for athletic sports for the young men of the city, be purchased with this money.

B. W. Richardson is having erected a $6000 residence fronting on San Fernando road in the Richardson tract. C. B. Cunningham is contractor. It is rumored that Mrs. E. W. Richardson, now in Berkeley, will start soon the erection of a home to cost something like $6500 on the site of the old Richardson home on San Fernando road. The foundation for a modern home is being laid by Dr. Bunco, brother of Mrs. H. W. Myers on San Fernando road just south of Central avenue. Work on this residence will be rushed.

Petitions are being circulated with a vengeance through the Tropico streets. One is out endorsing George C. Melrose for city recorder, which position up to this time has been filled by Judge Shuey. Another is out for A. H. Donegan for street superintendent, and still another is being circulated, endorsing Charles Henry for marshal. Whether or not these voices of the people will have any weight with the board of trustees remains to be seen. It is also rumored that many of the friends of H. G. Pettit, a capable attorney, are desirous of seeing him made the legal advisor of this city.

The new postal system at this place is being gradually rounded into shape. Up to this time there have been many difficulties to contend with, but these are being slowly overcome. It has been found necessary to run two carriers in distributing the mail instead of one, which was thought would be sufficient at the present time. Deputy Postmaster F. H. Davis asks that Tropico residents have their houses numbered and their mail directed to Tropico instead of elsewhere. It is definitely known that at least thirty of the residents living in the district formerly served from the Glendale office, failed, last week, to have their Glendale NEWS mailed to Tropico. They neglected to inform the NEWS office of their change of address and consequently the paper was held in the Glendale office for a day and finally an employee was forced to readdress all of the papers before they could be sent through the Glendale office. If the people of Tropico will do their part, which is extremely easy and can be done at little expense, the Tropico postoffice department will be able to get the receiving and delivery system running smoothly in a remarkably short time. So don't swear at the Tropico postmistress but get busy and do your part.

SOCIAL EVENTS IN K. OF P. HALL.

The Knights of Pythias lodge held another of their enjoyable dancing parties in this hall Wednesday evening. The attendance was quite large and excellent music for the dancing was furnished by a local orchestra.

The Fraternal Brotherhood Lodge of this place will give a leap year ball on Friday evening, April 26th. Excellent music is promised for this event and a feature of the evening will be a prize walk.

One of the most pleasing meetings of the Thursday Afternoon Club was held in this hall this week. The attendance was quite large, an interesting musical and literary program was rendered, and a number of visitors from out-of-town were present.

A box social, dance and card party will be given in this hall tomorrow (Saturday) evening by the Pythias Sisters. The former events given by this society have proved to be very enjoyable and this affair promises to be one of unusual enjoyment.

An Old-Fashioned Barbecue At San Jacinto

The San Jacinto Board of Trade has plans for an Old Fashioned Barbecue that bids fair to outdo anything of its kind ever given in this part of the country. It is to be given in celebration of the Great Water Discovery made recently, together with the present and future prosperity of their most beautiful little valley. San Jacinto fatted steers and pigs, for which this section is famous, will be served, as a pleasant reminder and notice to the whole country around that "San Jacinto is happy." It was always good, but now it is literally running over with possibilities, in all branches of ranching, fruit growing, cattle and hog raising, in fact it goes right down the line heading the list in almost every particular.

"It is beautiful, and its future is assured," says Nat Goodwin, the great actor, as he gobbles a thousand acres and plans for a mansion.

WEST GLENDALE

Mr. H. A. Page has sold his home on Ivy street and has moved to Lawndale near Redondo Beach.

Mrs. Land retires from the position of postmistress at Casa Verdugo and is succeeded by Miss Tucker.

Mrs. Frank Grosvenor entertained Tuesday last the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club at her home.

Mrs. E. O. Williams and brother, Mr. Howell Hughes, enjoyed a trip on the Balloon Route last Sunday. Mrs. Williams will spend this coming Sunday with friends in Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herman West have for their house guest Miss Ollie Kirschmann who is playing with the Joe Hart's company now presenting "Every Wife" at the Orpheum.

Mr. Andy Robertson left on Wednesday with the Knights Templar Drill team for San Diego to attend the annual state convocation being held there. He will be absent a few days.

Among the visitors at the West Glendale school this week were Mr. H. G. Dominy and the newly elected trustees, Dr. Westlake and Mr. E. R. Heacock. They were more than pleased with the manner in which the school was running.

"This is the first time I have ever been over in this part of town since I have been in Glendale, and am more than surprised at the beauty of the country—the splendid view, and at the number of fine homes. It certainly is a very pretty part of town." This is from one of Glendale's enterprising merchants, who paid this side of town a visit last week, and when told that the homes had all sprung up like mushrooms "within the past five or six years," he was "just a little more" surprised.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Among the many social affairs of the young folks of late, was the birthday party of Master George Russ, on Saturday, April 13th, at the home of Mrs. J. L. Russ on Milford street. The little fellow man feels the dignity of eight years, and invitations were sent to as many little boys. As is always the case at parties of this kind, there were games of various kinds and there being no girls to bother them, the young men had a fine time. There was a beautifully decorated dining room with a table laden with everything that a boy could wish for in the way of refreshments, and over these they had a merry time. Master George received many presents.

HIGH SCHOOL

On Wednesday afternoon, April 10, Dr. Williams of Pomona College gave an interesting talk to the boys.

The Caesar class are preparing to give a Latin banquet in the high school gymnasium soon. The old Roman ideas will be carried out as far as possible in the menu and costumes.

Last Saturday afternoon the Glendale boys won a close and exciting baseball game from Whittier high school team. At the end of the ninth inning the score stood 7-7 and not until the thirteenth inning did Glendale score, winning the game by a score of 8 to 7.

The girls' glee club of the music department is planning to give a cantata, "The Lady of Shalott," about May 18. Viola Yorba of Casa Verdugo will take the solo parts. The time and admission have not yet been fully decided upon, but it will probably be in the evening, and all will be invited to come.

The trustees visited the Hollywood high on Wednesday afternoon to look into the arrangements there for the teaching of domestic science and to take notes generally. There are about forty in this department here now divided into three classes. There are about the same number taking the manual training course, divided into two classes.

The Baumgart lecture will be given on Monday evening, April 29th, the subject being Norway. This lecture will be given under the auspices of the senior class which has been fortunate in securing Mr. Baumgart whose former lecture on the Rhine given here was so greatly enjoyed by those fortunate enough to be present. Further particulars will be given next week.

ORATORICAL CONTEST.

Friday, April 19, the Interclass Oratorical contest will be held in the high school auditorium.

It's true we are off in a little corner by ourselves, but it's a cozy corner, and the best corner on earth for a man to get a start. We have had no land agents to boom and raise prices, making it especially attractive at this time. It's equally good for the rich and retired, because of its health giving climate, and beautiful surroundings, elegant trout fishing, and all kinds of small and large game close by.

Be sociable, come over, and see us, you won't regret it, and we guarantee you won't forget it. Few minutes from Riverside by auto or Santa Fe, fine roads all the way. Come any time. If you want a shap you can't come too soon.

Look for another notice in this paper next issue. Send postal for photographs and further particulars, San Jacinto Board of Trade, San Jacinto, Cal.

school auditorium. The contestants from the different classes are Harold Story, Senior; Alma Turner, Junior; Leslie Tarr, Freshman. The Sophomores will hold their try-outs after school tonight (Wednesday).

Each class is looking forward to Friday night with a great deal of expectancy and some classes even hope that they will win.

Glendale has been admitted as a member of the Suburban Oratorical League, composed of Pasadena, Long Beach, Huntington Beach, Santa Ana and Glendale, and will take part in the contest of April 26th at Santa Ana. Glendale will probably be represented by Harold Story or Alma Turner.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR.

A citizen of Glendale discussing the Titanic disaster had this to say about one of its most prominent victims: "Twenty-one years ago, about this time of year I was a passenger bound for Europe on the steamer Majestic. Among the passengers was John Jacob Astor and his first bride in company with some of the Vanderbilts, Crockers and others prominent in New York society and the financial world. I saw a good deal of Mr. Astor and came to the conclusion that he was quite a man. This was proved by his conduct in the Spanish war when he raised a regiment and went to the front with it. That he should go down with the ship and put his wife in a boat to be saved is entirely in keeping with his character, for up to the time of the recent scandal in regard to his divorce and second marriage he stood very high in the estimation of those who knew him. He was the biggest landlord in New York."

ELECTRIC LIGHTING SYSTEM GROWS.

As will be noticed in report of meeting of trustees Monday evening, important additions have been made to the municipal lighting system by the agreement to purchase of L. C. Brand all of his plant on the west and north of Glendale, everything that he has left except in the Tropico district. The price agreed to be paid in the recently annexed territory is $6847, and for that outside the city limits, the sum of $6096. The first named sum will be paid in cash out of the bond sale, while the papers in the second case will be placed in escrow and payments made at the rate of $1500 a year at six per cent interest, giving a chance to make payment out of the receipts of the plant, as will no doubt be successfully done. The probability is that a rate somewhat higher than that within the city limits will be charged in the outside territory, but that it will be lower than rate now prevailing. The price to be paid represents a physical valuation placed upon the property by Mr. Harry Lynch representing the city and Mr. Arthur Campbell on behalf of Mr. Brand, and does not include anything for the established business or for anything except the real property in sight. The money for the bonds came in this week so that the department is now prepared to go ahead with the extension of the plant on the West Side without further delay.

State Printer Friend Wm. Richardson, has sent to this office copies of the biographical sketches of the presidential primary candidates. Under the primary laws passed at the special session of the legislature in December last, the state printer is required to print these sketches and forward them to the county clerks and the county clerks are required to mail them to the voters. One republican sketch is required to be mailed to each republican voter and one democratic sketch to each democratic voter. The republican and democratic parties were the only ones for which presidential candidates qualified to run at the primaries. Voters other than republican and democratic, and voters who in registering expressed no party choice, will not receive any sketches. In fact, the law definitely says that no sketches must be sent them.

Each of the county clerks has sent an estimate to the state printer of the number of votes in his county and the state printer will send them 10 per cent more than that number so there will be no shortage. The state printing office is running off 800,000 republican sketches and 312,000 democratic sketches. This will require 12,232 pounds of paper.

According to the law each presidential candidate pays $200 towards the cost of these sketches but this amount will little more than pay for the paper stock used.

The law provides that the names of the candidates shall be arranged in the order in which they are filed with the secretary of state. The state printer has placed the sketches in parallel columns so as to put them on an equal basis.

GLOBE THEATRE COMPANY BRANCHING OUT—GLENDALE MAN AT HEAD OF IT.

Los Angeles papers recently gave details of the Globe Theatre enterprise whereby three additional places of amusement are to be erected in this city by the Globe Company of which Mr. H. W. Nixon of Glendale is general manager. It is stated that each of these buildings is to cost about $50,000. One of these places is to be located at Central avenue and Jefferson street on Main, while one at Fifth and Los Angeles streets is now being operated. Contracts for other theatres to make a circuit of fifteen of these places of amusement are said to have been signed. They are all to be perfectly equipped motion picture and vaudeville theaters, not excelled anywhere in the West. There are rumors to the effect that Mr. Nixon intends to erect a similar establishment in Glendale, but investigation shows the report to be premature, though as everything else is coming this way it is safe to infer that it is only a question of time until this will arrive also.

For the fiscal year 1910-11 the Southern Pacific company expended for postage $43,047. The average freight rate per ton per mile is 1.281 cents. On commercial freight the average distance hauled is 2314 miles. Using the above figures 23,931,000 tons of freight would have to be carried a distance of one mile in order to earn for the company the $43,047 expended for postage during that one year.

Superior Judge James C. Rives of Los Angeles county, California, holds a remarkable record for travel over one line of railroad. Judge Rives lives in the town of Downey, a little more than 12 miles from Los Angeles, and every week day for twenty-seven years he has traveled back and forth between those two points. He holds the record of more than 130,000 miles of travel over that section of track and he has seen that piece of roadbed built and rebuilt a dozen times, the equipment worn out and replaced as often and has never met with even the slightest accident. During all of this time the schedule of this train has not changed over ten minutes; Judge Rives has been a resident of Downey for 43 years.

San Diego, April 18.—On the eve of his departure for the East on another of his boisterous tours for the San Diego exposition, Col. D. C. Collier, president of the San Diego exposition organization, made the positive statement that he is not, and never has been, a candidate for Congress. This sets at rest the many rumors of Colonel Collier's candidacy.

"My hat is on my head, and it is going to stay there," said Colonel Collier. "It has not been shied into the congressional ring, and it will not be. When I was elected president of the exposition in San Diego I accepted the office with a full realization of the work ahead of me, and I promised the people of San Diego that I would stay with it, and devote all of my time to it."

In 1906 the Colorado river broke through its banks and inundated thousands of acres of land in Southern California, threatened the expensive Laguna dam of the government and caused hundreds of families to become homeless. The rush of the waters was so great that quick action was urgent and the then president of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt, requested the Southern Pacific Company to aid both the government and the stricken people in that territory. This the Southern Pacific company did.

The work was accomplished swiftly and capably. The Southern Pacific expended $1,896,367 in stopping the rush of mad water. Ever since that time—six years ago—the claim of the railroad for reimbursement has been before the government. There is now before congress a bill, introduced by Representative Smith of California calling for such reimbursement less the sum of $552,693.03, which the government engineer insists should be eliminated, that sum representing the difference between the commercial rate on the material hauled to the scene of the trouble and what is known as the rate charged for railroad material. No account is taken of the interest on this vast sum, which, up to and including February 29, 1912, amounted to $400,560.

The Los Angeles Express, which is in no way at all partisan to the interests of the Southern Pacific, in fact, quite the contrary, in its editorial columns of March 28, 1912, terms this debt of the government as a "debt of honor," and says that it is disgraceful that the government has allowed the debt to go so long unpaid.

FOOD SALE.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a food sale at the Thorp-Boss grocery store, Fourth and Glendale avenue, on Saturday, April 20th, beginning at 10 o'clock and continuing all day or until everything is sold. Don't forget the date and place.
